Dr. Debbie Phillips, CPM[®]

Debbie Phillips is an entrepreneur and real estate professional with over 30 years of industry experience. Debbie has a multi-faceted career managing diverse real estate assets including developing world-class leadership development programs and talent management strategies.

When you woke up this morning you were given 86,400 seconds to spend however you wish. The same premise applies as if someone deposited $86,400 into your bank account. That money is yours to use any way you like. The only catch is that at the end of the day, whatever you don't use, you lose. In our daily activities, we can get lost in the trivial and forget to focus on the vital few priorities that increase our effectiveness.

Join Dr. Debbie Phillips as she leads us through proven processes that influence the outcome of our efforts. You'll be inspired as a leader and take away notable nuggets to share with your team that positively impacts their performance, if put into practice with the power of intention.
